

YORKVILLE MURALS

PRESENTED BY ROMEO'S
gin

Thank you for coming to the second edition of Yorkville Murals.

It's been an unpredictable year to say the least, but we are so excited to be back. Working alongside more amazing artists, our festival presenter Romeo's gin and partners at the BIA, our goal was to bring some much-needed positivity and vibrancy back to the community. We hope you like what we've done this year, and we ask that while viewing our murals and joining us at Taglialatella Galleries, you adhere to our new safety measures:

- We are hosting up to 20 people in the gallery at a time. If we are at capacity, please wait at the doors and a gallery team member will welcome you inside when ready.
- Art is meant to be savoured and enjoyed, but for now we ask that you observe while being mindful of your time inside and of the other guests waiting to come in. We are here five days a week and you are always welcome back.
- A safe distance of at least six feet between other guests and mask when inside is required. We're in this together, let's be as safe as possible.

Yorkville Murals is about enjoying art with those we love the most, and we want to continue doing this while keeping our community safe. We thank you for accommodating our requests and joining us again.
